

Curtis Smith is the Director of Sales at Blue Ocean Mariculture and this will be his second tour of duty in the islands as he was previously Vice President of Sales at Kona Blue Water Farms in the early days, pioneering Hawaiian Kanpachi. Curtis has also introduced and built sales teams to create markets for new aquaculture species including catfish, tilapia, trout, pangasius and Hawaiian Kanpachi in his over 30 years of experience in the seafood industry and is very passionate about preserving the ocean environment and sustainable aquaculture. In his free time, Curtis loves to hike the Sierra Nevada's with his wife and dog, spend time at Lake Tahoe and golf.
